Tavistock Relationships – a tradition of excellence in couple and psychosexual psychotherapy

Formed in 1948, Tavistock Relationships is internationally renowned as an organisation delivering and developing advanced practice, training and research in therapeutic and psycho-educational approaches to support couples and individuals.

We deliver professional training to the next generation of relationship and psychosexual therapists and provide clinical services to couples, parents and individuals throughout London, in Bristol and online. We provide a range of affordable counselling and psychotherapy services which support clients experiencing challenges in their relationships, their sexual lives and their parenting.

In addition, we undertake research, service development and policy activities which encourage the development and growth of effective and innovative relationship support interventions.

Courses and training

We provide accredited professional trainings in Counselling, Psychotherapy and Psychosexual Therapy, from introductory courses to doctoral programmes.

We also offer a full programme of CPD courses and conferences which provide opportunities for professionals to further develop their expertise.

Furthermore, we work with local and national government, the health sector, education and other voluntary organisations who commission us to develop and deliver training as well as relationship support programmes.

Counselling and therapy services

Our team of clinicians offers a range of affordable counselling and therapy services to support every individual, couple or parent facing relationship or psychosexual problems. Uniquely Tavistock Relationships is the only London-based service that provides a payment sliding scale meaning that our services are accessible for all those who wish to use them.

For more information about our counselling and therapy services please visit www.tavistockrelationships.org

Policy and research

Tavistock Relationships undertakes service development, policy and research activities to encourage the development of effective and cutting-edge relationship support services. We raise awareness of the importance of relationships to the health and well-being of our society by influencing politicians and policy-makers at the highest level.

We are committed to delivering the highest quality of service to all of our clients and to a culture of continuous improvement.

Tavistock Relationships Course Admissions (Diploma in Psychosexual Therapy)
Hallam House
56–60 Hallam Street
London W1W 6JL
Introduction

The Diploma in Psychosexual Therapy is a two-year course designed to provide knowledge, skills and opportunities for clinical practice in the area of psychosexual therapy. It qualifies graduates to practice as psychosexual therapists in statutory and voluntary sectors as well as in private practice.

At Tavistock Relationships, we have been running COSRT (College of Sexual and Relationship Therapists) approved professional trainings in Psychosexual and Relationship Therapy for over twenty years.

The new Diploma replaces our COSRT-approved MSc in Psychosexual and Relationship Therapy and, unlike the MSc which was open only to psychodynamic couple therapists, the Diploma will be open to qualified therapists, psychologists and counsellors of any discipline. We hope this will enrich the experience and learning on the course.

Many of the lecturers, tutors and supervisors from our MSc will continue to teach and work on the Diploma, which has been granted Approval Pending status by COSRT.

Why study at Tavistock Relationships?

• Tavistock Relationships has 70 years' experience of delivering and developing innovations in practice, training and research in relationship therapy, including recent work on diversity.

• We have been running COSRT-approved professional trainings in Psychosexual Therapy for over twenty years.

• Our long experience of research and practice in relationship therapy means we offer a holistic approach to sexual problems, looking both at the root cause and the way the problem may be maintained, even exacerbated, within any current relationship.

• Diploma graduates will have the opportunity to apply for our Professional Doctorate. At present psychosexual therapists are writing doctoral theses on sensate focus and on pornography use.

• Our lecturers, tutors and supervisors are all COSRT-accredited experienced psychosexual therapists, many with a long history of teaching on COSRT-approved courses.

• We have contacts with NHS psychosexual clinics which offer placements where students can develop the experience of working with a wide variety of psychosexual issues.

• Teaching is delivered at weekends, enabling students to continue their professional work elsewhere.

Course outline

The Diploma offers a clinical, professional training in the theory and practice of Psychosexual Therapy.

Theory and practice

The course includes:

• seminars on psychosexual and relationship issues

• opportunities to develop critical thinking by means of written assignments, reading, discussion

• group work and role play

• monthly case discussion/supervision group

• monthly self-reflective group

• support from a personal tutor throughout the course

• overseeing student’s progress in fulfilling COSRT clinical and supervision requirements.

Clinical work

Students are required to complete 200 hours of face-to-face clinical work. They must see a minimum of 10 cases, five of which must be with couples.

We provide some opportunities to undertake clinical work at an external placement to broaden experience.

Supervision

In accordance with COSRT guidelines, supervision must be undertaken at the supervision ratio of one hour per six hours of clinical work. Supervisors should be experienced COSRT-accredited psychosexual therapists.
Students working in private practice may charge their psychosexual training clients but must inform clients about their trainee status. Private work must be supervised by a Tavistock Relationships-approved supervisor. Payment for private supervision is not included in course fees.

Entry criteria

Minimum entry requirements

- A clinical qualification in individual, couple, child psychotherapy or counselling from a BACP/UKCP/BPC accredited training or
- A clinical qualification in individual, couple, child psychotherapy or counselling plus BACP/UKCP/BPC accreditation.
- At least two hundred hours of supervised face-to-face clinical work with individuals or couples.
- Appropriate personal qualities (a high degree of self-awareness, capacity to make and maintain close personal relationships, ability to reflect on personal experience).
- Commitment to self-development, a willingness to be open to experiences and to work with others in reflecting upon them.
- An appropriate level of self-awareness in relation to motivation for learning about working with psychosexual difficulties; a capacity to reflect on experience of personal, couple and family relationships.

NB Successful applicants who have had less than one hundred hours of personal individual therapy will be expected to complete this requirement during the training.

Entry with advanced standing

Applicants to the programme may apply for admission with advanced standing where they can produce evidence of prior learning that demonstrates that the learning outcomes of the identified components within the programme have been fulfilled.

Exceptional entry:

Applicants with other qualifications, or assessed prior (experiential) learning, may be considered for exceptional entry on their merits if the selection panel and the Assessment Board can be satisfied of their clinical and academic competence on the basis of:

- evidence from two referees who can confirm the applicant’s clinical and academic attainment
- other relevant equivalent training and a portfolio demonstrating prior (experiential) learning.

Applicants for advanced standing and exceptional entry will be required to offer evidence of:

- the nature, duration and context of all prior relevant learning
- the standard achieved in any assessment or, if no formal assessment was undertaken, other evidence which can be evaluated by the Assessment Board for entry.
Assessment

Assessment is by: case studies; training log; theory papers; seminar review papers; oral presentation; project work; end-of-course written and verbal examination; ongoing assessment by supervisors, seminar leaders, self-reflective group conductors, and tutors; and a minimum of 200 hours of clinical practice under supervision. (See below.)

Academic assessment requirements

Theory, practice and research of psychosexual therapy. Assessment will be by:

- confirmation of attendance at seminars (80% minimum)
- seminar presentations
- two assessed role plays
- assessed case studies
- a written examination of clinical competencies
- a 5,000-word qualifying paper
- six case summaries
- a resource portfolio
- seminar leaders’ reports.

Clinical assessment requirements

(may be modified according to professional body or Tavistock Relationships requirements).

“Tavistock Relationships has some of the world’s leading practitioners and trainers.”

Psychosexual Course Graduate
The structure of the course is modular but issues around assessment, treatment planning, diversity and relationships will be threaded through all modules on the course. All set reading material, apart from chapters in prescribed text books, will be supplied but students are expected to read and research widely around the topics.

Students will be expected to keep a self-reflective journal throughout the course and to compile a folder of resource material.

Module 1: Thinking about and working with relationships
- Why relationship focus?
- Relationship diversity
- Psychodynamic aspects of the couple relationship
- Attachment theories
- Genogram
- Working with individual clients on relationships issues
- Key skills in working with the couple
- Working with violence, aggression and vulnerability
- Protection issues relating to children and vulnerable adults

Module 2: Psychosexual assessment and treatment
- Introduction to psychosexual therapy
- Psychosexual assessment
- Psychosexual dysfunctions
- Desire disorders
- Anatomy and physiology of sexual response
- History taking
- Treatment planning
- Behavioural and education work

- Mourning and acceptance
- Endings in relationships and in therapy
- What is meant by good enough sex?
Clinical hours and case requirements

In order to complete the Diploma and conform to COSRT requirements, trainees must complete 200 hours of face-to-face psychosexual therapy with clients. Trainees must work with a minimum of ten psychosexual cases of which at least five should be couples. Trainees may achieve these hours on placement, in their organisation, in their private practice or in a combination of these.

We encourage those in private practice to seek a placement in an NHS psychosexual clinic, for at least some of the required hours, because of the experience and support this gives.

Trainees may charge their psychosexual training clients but must inform clients that they are in training. Private work must be supervised by a Tavistock Relationships-approved psychosexual supervisor.

NB In accordance with COSRT guidelines, trainees with less than 200 hours’ prior experience of face-to-face clinical work are not permitted to see training clients in their private practice. They must seek a suitable placement.

“Since I’ve added Psychosexual Therapy to my list of competencies, I’ve found my practice has really grown. Even clients without problems in this area seem to be reassured by the qualification.”

Psychosexual Course Graduate
Programme Heads

Marian O’Connor is a UKCP- and COSRT-accredited psychosexual and relationship therapist with nearly thirty years’ clinical experience working with individuals and couples. Formerly the Programme Leader of the MSc in Psychosexual and Relationship Therapy at Tavistock Relationships, she has presented on psychosexual issues in conferences both home and abroad, and frequently writes for or advises the media on psychosexual and relationship issues, most recently (2018) in Huffington Post, Telegraph and Mental Health Today. She is co-author of the chapter ‘Psychodynamic Aspects of Psychosexual Therapy’ for the European–wide syllabus of clinical sexology published by the European Society of Sexual Medicine. She supervises and teaches on the Diploma.

Jane Seymour is a visiting lecturer and clinician. Jane trained as a Couple and Relationship Counsellor at London Marriage Guidance. She subsequently trained as a Psychosexual Therapist and a Supervisor. She has also completed an MA in Psychoanalytic Studies. Jane devised postgraduate training in psychosexual and relationship therapy at Tavistock Relationships and continues her involvement with Tavistock Relationships as a trainer and supervisor. For several years now she has taught the Introduction to Couple Counselling and Psychotherapy with colleague Patsy Faure. Jane has delivered the Certificate in Psychosexual Studies for therapists in Turkey and visited Stockholm to lecture on the subject of psychosexual assessment. She has presented training for a range of organizations including Relate, BUPA, the Royal Shakespeare Company and the Academy of Live and Dramatic Arts. Jane works as a therapist and supervisor in private practice in South London.

Marian and Jane are supported by an excellent teaching team comprised of qualified psychosexual therapists with several years’ experience of teaching/supervising/tutoring in the field. (See overleaf.)
